Every child has a right to such an education as will qualify for life's duties. This is recognized as a patriotic duty by the state. The premanence of our political institutions depend on the intelligence of our citizenship. The hayonets of foreign soldiers are less to be feared than are the ballots of ignorant voters. The welfare of the state depends more on the moral and religious training of his citizens than in their intellectual trainings, yet the state makes no provisions for this moral discipline. In some cases it makes it difficult or even impossible to secure such training. The training of the mind is not all. There must be a training of the moral sensibilities particularly the will. Not all this is the duty of the public school; part is the duty of the church, but the largest particularly the church, but the largest particularly the church, but the largest particularly the training is defrauded out of an inalienable right, and when he comes into the inhesitance of citizenship, may be depended upon to avenge himself on the society that perpetrated the fraud upon him.

But mother too often stays at home and makes things comfortable and happy for the members of the family who happen to be there.

Does mother ask for a vacation? Of course not! Mother doesn't have time to ask for one. Bhe works from sun to sun and longer. She sows for the daughter, mends for son, fixes up the last summer's palm beach for father. She gets daughter's vacation clothes ready. She sends her boy away on a vacation. She sees that dad's apparel is all fixed up before he leaves for the fishing waters—but she stays at home.

Why not go to mother and in

If you ask a child where home is he would say where mother is. Home of our childhood, where mother reigns queen, soothes our heartaches, min-isters to our needs, protects us from the blasts of life. Is not the happiest man or woman the most successful in the highest sense of the word? Given the comforts of life, is anything more desirable than the sunshine of a happy home, where a loving wife, and merry, happy children abide, and where friends congregate for cheerful, inspiring association? OF LIFE IN THE NAVY

Louisi, Kentucky,
Dear Sir;—
Having promised to write the Big Sandy News about life here in the navy, I will endeavor to describe it as far as I have seen it. When a recruit reaches camp he is taken in tow by a guard and is led into what is called the detention camp—here he is lined up and given a medical inspection and is then led over to his quarters which is to be his home during his three weeks detention period. The second or third day he is given his outfit of clothing and some of the rookies, as they are now called, are very comical looking in their new uniforms after a person is used to seeing them in citizen clothes.

About the fifth day the rookie is given his first shot in the arm, (inculation serum for prevention of typhoid) and has a very sore arm for a day or so. The duties of men in detention are very light so that time drags somewhat; especially as they irre allowed no liberty while there. After detention is over and the three shots have been given they are transported to one of the regular training camps and here the real training starts. The training is somewhat similar to that of the army, but there is much more to fit. Drill lasts aix hours a day and then we have two hours in which to wash clothes. Everyhody wears whites and consequently they have to be washed every day.

The reat of the time is recreation. Wednesday and Sunday afternoors are set aside as bolidays.

The time that all new recruits look forward to is their first shore leave to the first shore leave to the first shore leave to the first shore shots have been given they are transported to be washed devery day.

Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. MEN NEEDED IN NAVY.

Five thousand more men are needed at once for the navy, according to the United States Navy Recruiting Station. United States Navy Recruiting Station, 412 South Fourth street, Louisville. The Naval Appropriation bill just passed by congress makes provision for this increase. Kentucky has been asked to furnish 2,000 of this number, and it is expected that this quota will be raised during the month of July. Nearly all ratings in the navy are now open for enlistment with excellent opportunities for both skilled, and unskilled men.

Furloughs to help with the crops are being granted the boys at the Naval Training Station at Great Lakes, said Lieut. J. H. Teach, recruiting officer for Kentucky. This should prove to be of help to farmer boys who can now enlist and go to Great Lakes, and then get a furlough for farm purposes. Kentucky has responded well to previous calls, and I feel sure we will break all records this time, too.

Navy retruiting stations are located at Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Owensboro, Paducah, and Bowling Green, in adition to the main office at Louisville.
